

Effecting cultural change in research ethics and integrity

Venue: University of Glasgow

15th June 2015

Commitment 3 of the 'Concordat to Support Research Integrity' creates an expectation that institutions will "nurture a culture of integrity". Encouraging a culture of integrity in research should be the cornerstone in any ethical organisation. But what does it mean and how can it be promoted?

This is a "must" workshop for anyone involved with the ethics of research who wants to explore ways to tackle these challenging questions. We will focus on two main aspects: the link between publication and research ethics; and the development and support for institutions, researchers and students alike, to enable "a culture of integrity."
