ALPSP Training Course

Publication Ethics: Fraud and Misconduct

This course has been developed in collaboration with the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE)

Wednesday 12 February 2014

Prince Philip House, London

Tutors: Liz Wager, Consultant
        Donna Neill, Wiley and Blackwell Publishing

ALPSP are pleased to offer this course to all COPE members at the discounted ALPSP member rate.

Delegate Comments

'Expected it to be complex, subtle and interesting and it was. Excellent presentations, clear and took time to investigate and explain.' Deborah Owen, Nutrition Society

'Really good interactive course with lots of opportunities to ask questions relating to individual experiences.' Lara Finan, Cancer Intelligence Ltd

A wide range of ethical issues can arise in academic publishing. These can be caused by misbehaving authors (e.g. committing plagiarism or fraud), by abuse of editorial positions and also by conflicts between publishers’ and societies’ commercial interests and principles of editorial freedom and integrity. This course will cover how to effectively detect and deal with possible misconduct and show the importance of having sound ethical policies.

Programme

- Editors’ views on ethical issues
- Introduction to publication ethics
- How can misconduct be detected?
- How to deal with suspected misconduct
- Retractions and corrections
- How can publishers’ policies prevent misconduct?

Who should attend
Anybody with an interest in publication ethics, including editorial staff and journal editors. It will be especially relevant to anybody developing or revising their company’s, society’s or journal’s editorial policies or processes.

ALPSP Member rate £355.00 plus VAT (Non Member £515.00 plus VAT)
COPE members: Please email Melissa Marshall to ensure you are charged the discounted fee (do not book online):
Tel: +44(0)1892 618219; Email: trainingadmin@alpsp.org